REVISION IN PROGRESS

INTRODUCTION

The Virginia Library Association Manual codifies the policies, procedures, and structure of the Association. It includes the VLA By-laws and the appendices which provide samples of forms used for programming, budgeting, nominating, and other Association activities.

The Manual reflects current VLA practice and policy. The Second Vice-president revises the Manual as needed and informs Council of changes. Revision dates are reflected in the Table of Contents. The Manual is available to all members on the Virginia Library Association website (vla.org).

The policies of the Association may be altered by a majority vote of Council or by a vote of the membership in accordance with the By-laws. Changes will have the force of a policy of this Association as soon as action is taken to amend the Manual. Substantive changes to administrative procedures are made by vote of the Executive Committee and ratified by Council.

The Virginia Library Association is incorporated pursuant to the provisions of the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia known as the Virginia Non Stock Corporation Act (Virginia Code, Chapter 10, Section 13.1.801-980).

Dues

- The membership year is January 1–December 31. Dues are not pro-rated.

Reimbursements

- The Association realizes that considerable expense may be incurred by its officers and Council members in the performance of their duties on its behalf and acknowledges that the Association has a responsibility to assist in funding those expenses within the limitations of its resources. It is suggested that, whenever possible, those persons will request that their own institutions assist in funding such expenses. Individuals may submit for consideration a request from VLA for reimbursement of expenses not covered by their institutions.
- Requests for funding of anticipated expenses will be made through the regular budgetary process. Council, in authorizing the annual operating budget, will establish the maximum amounts which will be reimbursed.
- The Executive Committee may authorize any member of the Association to attend state, regional, or national meetings or conferences as an official representative of the Association, with reimbursement from the contingency fund. The VLA representative is eligible for travel expenses to include a per diem based on the current rate supported by the Commonwealth of Virginia.

(See Appendix C, Reimbursement Form) The Executive Director's expense reimbursements are specified in that individual's contractual agreement with the Association.

Members of Council: Members of Council may be reimbursed for their attendance at Council meetings for mileage at the federal rate. The first 100 miles of any trip are not reimbursable. Costs incurred in the course of planning programs or workshops for which a registration fee will be charged are to be included on the Program Expense Estimate Sheet.

Conferences: Conference costs are reimbursed from the conference budget, including but not limited to speaker fees and expenses; Executive Committee's lodging; and Conference Committee expenses, such as travel, telephone charges, supplies, postage, printing, etc.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE

General Guidelines

- Conference Sites: The Executive Committee will recommend to Council a three-year schedule of conference sites for approval annually. That schedule shall be published on the VLA website. The Executive Director is responsible for contracting with the conference site selected by Council.
- Conference Time and Date: The annual conference is held in the fall of each year. Dates are established on recommendation of the Executive Committee and confirmed during the site selection and contract process.
- Conference Exhibits: The Executive Director is responsible for mailing a prospectus and exhibitor proposal and registration form by May 1 of each year for that year's conference. The Executive Director will work closely with the conference chair to coordinate graphics, exhibitor schedules, layouts and events. Exhibitors are assigned booth space on a first come/first reserved basis starting on May 2.
- Conference Programs: The Conference Committee makes the final selection of conference programs and events.
- Conference Budget: The annual conference is a self-supporting activity, with the bulk of its funding coming from exhibitor fees and registrations. Its budget is a component of the operating budget, for which any conference profits are a source of income. The chair of the Conference Committee, in consultation with the Treasurer and the Executive Director, develops the conference budget. The Executive Committee approves the conference budget.
- Conference Expenses: The Association provides lodging at the annual conference for Executive Committee members. The Association may provide lodging for the Virginia

Libraries editors, scholarship winners, general session speakers and guests of the Association at the recommendation of the Conference Committee chair in collaboration with the Executive Committee.

Policy

- The annual conference must be planned to generate a profit, or at a minimum to be self-supporting.

Budget

- The Conference Committee chair shall send a draft of the annual conference budget to the Treasurer, who will present it to the Executive Committee and to Council at or before the second quarterly Council meeting. The Executive Committee shall set exhibitor fees and registration fees annually, in consultation with the Executive Director. The Conference Committee chair provides a budget and program report for each quarterly meeting of the Council.

Programming

- The Conference Committee coordinates the overall program content and specifically selects the general session speakers, pre- or post-conference programs, and supplemental programs. The Conference Committee invites the VLA units and the membership-at-large to submit conference concurrent session proposals.

Joint Annual Conferences

- VLA Council may invite other library associations or related organizations to participate in the VLA annual conference, either as a full partner in conference planning, costs and profits, or as otherwise agreed by all participants. These policies should be understood to apply to VLA's annual conference, although the event may or may not be an annual conference for the other participant(s).
- Acceptance of joint conference agreements should be based on benefits the other participant(s) can bring to the VLA annual conference in terms of programs, professional development and stature, planning and presentation participation, and potential profits. The Executive Committee approves the joint conference plan.
- The joint Conference Committee coordinates the overall conference program content, with final approval from the Executive Committee.
- Costs associated with joint conference: Each association will be responsible for funding the expenses of its own conference committee members. Conference costs and any net income will be split in the same manner that the programming costs are split (shared funding equals shared net income, separate funding equals separate profit on portion planned and funded). Factors to consider are expected attendance by each association's members, local arrangement responsibilities, upfront funding, etc.

- Each association must agree, in advance of any conference publicity or exhibitor recruitment, to a conference budget (each association's costs and expected net income). The joint conference budget must be submitted to the Council by the second quarterly Council meeting.
Specific areas to be addressed for joint conferences are:
 1. Exhibit responsibilities
 2. Registration fees and policies
 3. Program planning
 4. Program costs
 5. Net income required and the division of net income
 6. On-site responsibilities
 7. Advance administration responsibilities
 8. Benefits and the division of benefits, i.e. complimentary hotel rooms
- Implementation: The VLA Vice-president/President-elect and the Executive Director are responsible for negotiating any joint conference agreements. The Executive Committee approves any final joint conference agreement. The presidents and executive directors of all participating associations sign a conference contract. Unless specified otherwise in the contract, either association may cancel its joint conference participation up to 18 months prior to the actual conference. The canceling association will be responsible for all costs resulting from the cancellation which cannot be recovered by either association.

CONTINUING EDUCATION STANDARDS

Commitment

- The Virginia Library Association is committed to a statewide, comprehensive, long-range plan for continuing education to improve the quality of library service. To this end, VLA has adopted the continuing education goals of the American Library Association as part of its strategic plan. Activities of VLA units should contain a significant continuing education component where appropriate. VLA has defined continuing education as those learning opportunities used by individuals in fulfilling their need to learn and grow following their preparatory education and work experiences. Individual members are responsible for undertaking continuing education activities. VLA encourages libraries to budget for continuing education and seek state, federal, and other sources of funding.

Fees

- All programs should be self-supporting. It is expected that non-VLA members who participate in activities sponsored by VLA be assessed a fee which is 50% higher than the fee charged to VLA members. Non-VLA members who choose to become members may attend events at member rates when their membership dues accompany the program registration.
